

Charlotte Soccer Academy Player, Jack Miller, Invited to US Soccer Training Center

Chris Brewer, Technical Advisor for the South Conference will be on hand to evaluate players

Jack Miller (1996), a new Charlotte Soccer Academy USSDA player has been invited to Mooresville, North Carolina to participate on Saturday November 12, 2011 in a US Soccer Training Center (TC). The TC included two groups of players, those born in 1998/99 and those in the 1995/96/97 age groups. Players have been invited from the South Carolina, Virginia and North Carolina U.S. Developmental Academy clubs. Each group will be coached by Chris Brewer the Technical Advisor for the South Conference.

"The TC program is meant to help prepare our players for the Youth National Team Training environment," stated Chris Brewer. "These sessions are a critical part of the Development Academy and have benefits both from the continuing education and player identification/development perspectives."

"Jack has been part of the CSA for four years now", said Richard Butler, CSA Director of the USSDA. "He has been progressing well over the past year and this has been recognized by US Soccer. This will be his first time at a TC and he is now on the radar due to the way he has been playing. He is a good right back who likes to get forward and attack. He passes the ball well and makes good decisions. I am looking forward to welcoming him into the Academy program next week. I wish him good luck and hope that he continues his good form."
